

Catholic and protestant like a dog and a cat
Fighting for a milk-smear
Which they have whole-spilt in the fighting - what
Each has for creed the other breaks and tears
So of the entire Christian creed
But that's so little I so very little shall say in haste
But in the sump it wouldn't spoil the late.

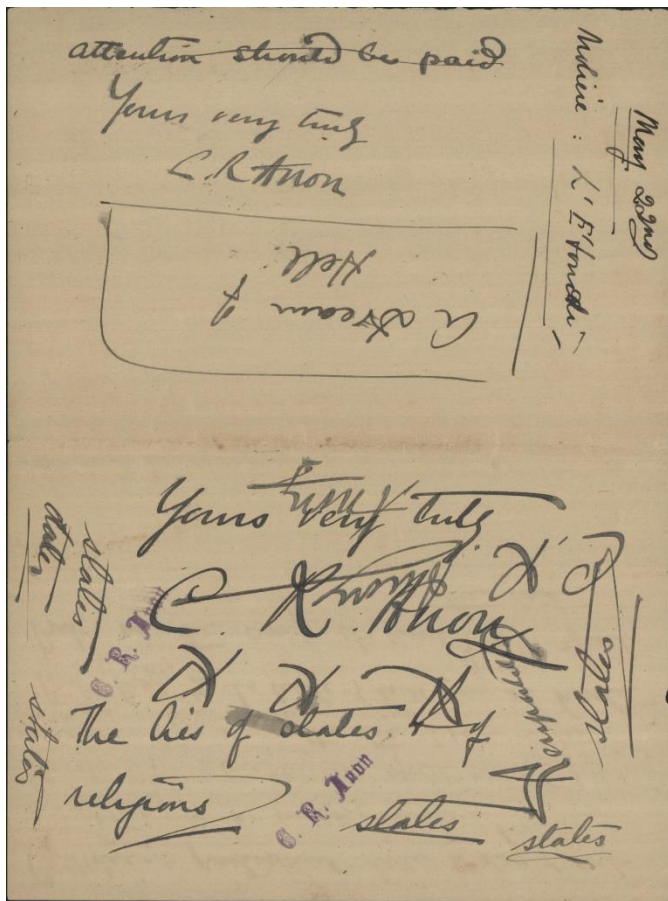

As widely spread as are electric-belts
Not to speak of the maladies they cure
Or are believed to - those are spread yet more.

God wrote the book of Nature - luckless thought
'Tis like the work of the symbolic poets
By human minds to comprehend not know its Meaning but we hope it is our lot and so it's

I hate the people who smile a sneer at us
In whose soul and there is a 2nd sense
And just is on our guard - damn them just
Trouble conventions {...}
